

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A massage pillow, comprising:

an external pocket, being a semi-closed pocket and having an opening, a latch device disposed at said opening, and defining a pocket chamber 5 therein;

an internal pocket, being a semi-closed tubular pocket and having a pipe opening at a proximate side combined with an opening of said external pocket and a pocket opening disposed at an appropriate position on the other end, and defining a pipe chamber therein for accommodating a vibrator; and

10 a filler, being made of a soft material and passing through said pocket opening along said pipe chamber to be filled in said pocket chamber, and said pocket opening being sealed to constitute said massage pillow.

2. The massage pillow of claim 1, wherein said vibrator provides a vibration by using a bias rotation of a direct current motor.

15 3. The massage pillow of claim 2, wherein said vibrator is a small vibrator driven by a No. 3 dry cell battery.

4. The massage pillow of claim 1, wherein said filler external pocket and internal pocket are made of weaved cloth.

20 5. The massage pillow of claim 1, wherein said filler is a polyton composed of a plastic polymer material.

6. The massage pillow of claim 1, wherein said latch device is one selected from the collection of a zipper and an adhesive tape.

7. The massage pillow of claim 1, wherein said pocket opening is sealed by sewing.

25 8. The massage pillow of claim 1, wherein said pocket opening adopts another latch device for selectively opening and closing said pocket opening.

9. The massage pillow of claim 8, wherein said latch device is one selected from the collection of a zipper and an adhesive tape.